What does the FBLA Creed mean to you? I agree with the creed. It seems fair. Every person does deserve the right to have an education. No matter what you want to do in life you have to have some sort of education. I feel that if people who work hard and dedicate themselves to there education and really push themselves can go far. If you work hard you could improve so much. Like your family life and your community, all because of knowledge that you learned. Just by reading the creed i feel more capable of doing more. Only because "I believe education is the right of every person. the future depends on mutual understanding and cooperation among business, industry, labor, religious, family, and educational institutions, as well as people around the world. I agree to do my utmost to bring about understanding and cooperation among all of these groups. every person should prepare for a useful occupation and carry on that occupation in a manner that brings the greatest good to the greatest number. every person should actively work toward improving social, political, community, and family life. every person has the right to earn a living at a useful occupation. every person should take responsibility for carrying out assigned tasks in a manner that brings credit to self, associates, school, and community. I have the responsibility to work efficiently and to think clearly. I promise to use my abilities to make the world a better place for everyone."

Great job Daya! Your presentation was fantastic as well. Please make sure to turn in w/ a memo template.
